Excerpt from O'er Oceans and Continents With the Setting Sun: From Manila to Singapore, Rangoon, Calcutta, Benares, Bombay, Goa, Cairo and Palestine

The cordial reception met by the "First Series" of "O'er Oceans and Continents," and frequent requests for a continuance of the narrative, have finally prevailed upon the author to publish this "Second Series." While the first contained an account of the journey from Chicago to Manila, the second describes the incidents of the journey from Manila to Palestine.

Though the author is sincerely thankful for past or future kindness shown to him in regard to these books, he begs to state, that he is not looking for private financial gain. The proceeds are intended to defray the publication of an English translation of "Ciudad de Dios," a most remarkable Spanish work peculiarly suited to our times. It is an extensive work, detailing in a wonderful and authoritative manner the life of the ever-Blessed Virgin Mary. If ever human words or writings have succeeded in placing before the mind of man the heavenly charms and beauties of undefiled womanhood, "Ciudad de Dios" has done it. Should not such praise resound also in English, the language of half the world?

At the same time the English translation can be published only at considerable cost, for which there is no hope of immediate financial returns.
