The man who walked through time: With photos taken en route by the author Colin Fletcher

The story of the first trip afoot through the depths of the Grand Canyon by the author of "the Thousand-Mile Summer", 239 pages, illustrated with photographs by the author. From the jacket: The day Colin Fletcher first saw the Grand Canyon, he knew he had to walk through it from one end to the other. The Grand Canyon had been run by boat, but no one had ever attempted the journey by foot, and the experts said it could not be done. Still, Mr. Fletcher, an experienced hiker who had walked fierce mountain country and inhospitable desert, was determined to make the trip. A year later he started the two-month journey he describes in this book.
